Re : Excessively Cold Walls and Floors

This is to inform you that the said issue has not been rectified since I discovered it last winter. Amacon personnel looked into that matter and made some observations on how to tackle the issue. The supervisor told me that they need to see the inside section of the wall to find out if there was insulation on it. But since then the Amacon personnel that looked into that issue was transferred to work on the newly built condominium, Elle, and I learned that the supervisor had just resigned too. Since then no one follow up the problem until I made another request this November 2010.

Attached is the reference letter dated 24 November 2010.

Thank you very much.

Truly Yours,
