Quite frankly I think the mirrored closet should always be in the entrance and then have an option to upgrade to the bedrooms if desired. Once they see the non mirrored closet doors they are going to hate it. I am going to mention this for future buildings.

Thanks
Jenny

Suite 208 has listed on his pre-delivery form that he had requested mirror sliders in the entry, the colour selection clearly states mirrored sliders in the bedroom.

Just a friendly heads up if this chaps comes back at you.

As far as I am concerned he wanted the mirror sliders in the bedroom and that is what he got

Have a good night

Suite 208

I'm reviewing the colour selection sheet right now and there is a mistake because I specifically informed Jenny Vieira that I prefer the mirror in the entry closet. All the while I thought the mirror will be in the "Entry" and the Master bedroom is "N/A".

I would like to meet you tomorrow, Sept 12, 2012 to clear this out.

Thanks,

Re: 4065 Brickstone Mews

According to your colour selection sheet for this unit, you as the homeowner had selected that the Mirror Closet Sliders be located in the Master Bedroom. The entrance would then be the flat panel sliders.

Please review your signed colour selection form and be advised that the present situation is correct.

If you have other documentation that contradicts the above mentioned please feel free to present this and Amacon will gladly correct the location of the mirror sliders

Thank you for your cooperation,
